SEQUOIA HIGH'S SHOW AND EXHIBIT A BIG SUCCESS

The Shakespearian show given by the students of the Sequoia highschool last Thursday evening in the school assembly was a pronounced success. All the parts were well taken, but special mention should be made of the work of Comte O'Connell, in the role of Shylock, the Jew, and also as Macbeth, in the Merchant of Venice. Others who portrayed their parts exceptionally well were Wesley Locker, as Pyrasmus; Thelma Knox, as Portia: Ray Bourdeaux, as Bassanio, and Charles Rockwell, as Moonshine, a tailor. Mabel Paul and Hazel Lamb were beautiful as Hermia and Helena, in a Midsummer Night's Dream.

The music by Mr. Carrington was much appreciated.

The manuel training and drawing exhibit held in the hall in connection with the entertainment, was also a great success and reflected much credit upon the young students and Mr. Gill, the instructor. The boys displayed their skill in making wordrobes, buffets, dressers, tables, taborets, china closets, table lamps, morris chairs, rockers, cedar chests, book cases and numerous other articles. Mr. Gill says he is willing to put Sequoia's exhibit against any highschool in the State.

BIG CROWD PLANNING TO ATTEND THE "CHAMORITA."

Nearly everybody in town is making arrangements to attend the "Chamorita" at Halfmoon Bay which will be held this year on Saturday and Sunday, June 10th and 11th. The people of Halfmoon Bay intend to make this one of the biggest celebrations ever held. There will be a grand ball Saturday night, also fire works, and on Sunday there will be the usual parade, followed by dancing until 6 p. m. Over 10,000 pounds of barbercue meat have been arranged for.

The Redwood City Municipal band will furnish the music for the celebration and will be conveyed across the mountains in Ed Dearborn's big auto truck. Dearborn will make two trips. Those wishing a seat reservved should ring up Mr. Dearborn at once as many have already indicated their intentions of going. The automobile will leave at 3:30 Saturday afternoon.

SKUNKS ADDED TO LIST OF NATURAL RESOURCES

The skunk has been added to the list of natural resources which should be conserved or protected before exterminated, the Department of Agriculture classifying this animal as "of great economic importance" in a statement made public recently, and asks that it be given the same protection that the Federal agents are now compelled to exercise in the prevention of bird slaughter.

"Some of the most destructive insects in agriculture are such as do their work below ground and out of reach of any method that the farmer can apply, and it is against many of these that the skunk is an inveterate enemy," the statement asserts."

"Notwithstanding all this," it continues "there is probably not an animal that is as ruthlessly slaughtered as is this one."

J. D. WILLARD GIVES FITTING ORATION

Patriotic Exercises at the Alhambra Theatre Attended by Many Good People

Memorial day was fittingly observed by the people of Redwood City and vicinity on Tuesday. The exercises were under the auspices of General Geo. C. Evans Relief Corps.

The program opened with a prayer by Rev. C. H. Stevens, P. P. Chamberlain, Past Post Commander of General Thomas Post, conducted the ritulistic work of the G. A. R., following which Miss Alice Bettin recited "The Blue and the Gray." Miss Marie McAuliffe, in her clear, sweet voice sand "The Star Spangled Banner." At the conclusion of Gettysburg's speech, which was given by Jack Poole, the three hundred children stood up and joined in pledging allegiance to their flag and country. The children of the Notre Dame Academy followed with a very pleasing flag song.

John D. Willard, the attorney, was the orator of the day and said in part as follows:

"The youth of this Nation can find in this Memorial occasion and in the lives and deeds we here commemorate food for reflection and example for emulation.

"There are battles of peace which must be waged as uncompromisingly as the battles of war.

"All the enemies of our Country were not conquered at Yorktown or Appomattax.

"Just as the frost and the wind are not the only foes to a bountiful harvest so the enemies who fight with guns and sword are not the only foes of liberty.

"There are foes who disguise themselves as friends, wolves in sheep's clothing, who insinuate themselves into the confidence of our people and by deception and cajollery win approval of things designed to benefit the unworthy to the injury of our free institutions.

"Just as our veterans prepared themselves by study and training to cope with the enemy and to lay bare his schemes and tactics and to thwart his battle by well calculated counter-attacks so must we soldiers of peace by study of our country's needs and its perils be prepared to oppose to the uttermost constantly recurring attacks against its honor and its welfare.

"We are under the same solemn obligation to act and speak and vote straight that the old soldiers were to shoot straight.

"While the duties of peace are less arduous through those of war, preparedness to discharge these duties is just as essential in the one case as in the other.

"The patriot of peace will not find their paths strewn with roses.

"There are times when the duty to speak and act sternly is as imperative as was the call to arms in '61.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty as much now as then.

"The heart of the American people is set fast upon liberty and justice as the national ideals.

"Webster said 'Justice equal and exact justice for all - - - for each and everyone, is the chief concern of mankind.

"And such is the treasure of the American heart.

"Our debt to you is evidenced by our love of the Country you saved for us that we might live under the blessings of liberty and union, and might transmit them to our children.

"Our country is even now the promised land to millions of heart sick, body broken mortals upon the bloody shores of Europe.

"It is destined to be the bright and shining star of hope to countless souls of the old world who will here seek refuge from political and military oppression.

"Its broad stretches from ocean to ocean and its inexhaustible resources will sustain if requfred, the oppressed and unfortunate from every land.

"Our magnificient cities and stupendous industrial activities cover the land and the accomplishments of our scientists and artisans have made this a wonder land where nature has yielded up her secrets for the benefit and enjoyment of our people.

"The day will come when the Nations of the earth will look to our example for guidance as the marineer looks to the pole star to make his course; when they will emulate our ideals of Justice and Equality; when the soul of civil liberty and not the body of material wealth will be by our example, the chief concern of mankind and then will be ushered in the age of 'Peace on earth—Good will to men.'"

Otis M. Carrington feelingly sang "Cover Them Over," which was followed by the Children of the Convent in the song, "Just Before the Battle, Mother." Francis O'Sullivan rendered Tennyson's "Charge of the Light Brigade", in a most masterly manner. The exercises in the theatre concluded with prayer by Rev C. A. Verlerer, and the singing of "America" by the audience.

The exercises at Union Cemetery consisted of a prayer by Father J. J. Sullivan and "An Address to the Unknown Dead" by Roy W. Cloud and a song "The Vacant Chair" by the convent pupils. Mr. Cloud's address was full of nice sentiment. His reference to the heroic dead who gave up their lives for their country was truly eloquent and replete with patriotic sentiment. Mr. Cloud made a splendid effort and at the conclusion of his thirty minute speech was congratulated by his hearers. The address was without doubt the best that was ever delivered in the cemetery on similar occasions.
